

Leave Policy

Purpose

This document defines leave eligibility and approval procedures. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.

Annual Leave

Employees receive 18 paid annual leave days each year. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.

Casual Leave

Employees receive 12 casual leave days each year. This policy supersedes earlier departmental guidance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.

Sick Leave

Employees receive 10 sick leave days annually. Medical certificates are required only after two consecutive days. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.

Approval

Leave requests should normally be submitted three working days in advance using the HR portal. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.

Carry Forward

Up to five unused annual leave days may be carried forward. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance. This policy applies to all full-time employees unless an exception is approved in writing by Human Resources. Managers are responsible for communicating these guidelines and employees are expected to comply with them. Failure to follow the policy may result in corrective action depending on the circumstances. These guidelines are reviewed periodically to ensure operational consistency and regulatory compliance.